Financial planning and adviser services described within this brochure are provided for fee-based compensation. Further, additional compensation to representative(s) of this advisory firm may come in the form of commissions earned from insurance agent activities. As such, we herein disclose and advertise to you, clients, prospective clients, and the public that our firm investment adviser representative's compensation is "Commission and Fee" based.

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC advisory service is designed to provide solutions based on the needs of individuals, families, and business-owners.

B. Types of Advisory Services

We provide financial planning and investment management services to individuals as well as business owner-sponsors of retirement plans (such as 401k), defined contribution, or defined benefit plans.

You may retain us to provide both financial planning and investment management services, or you may engage us to provide either of our services exclusive of the other. Our services are typically offered through an ongoing relationship, but may in some circumstances be offered with limitations to scope, time range, or service period.

The following paragraphs describe our services. The respective fees for services described below are outlined in greater detail in Item 5 of this brochure. Please refer to the description of service listed below for information on how we tailor our services to your specific needs, and Item 5.A for the fees for each service.

B.1 Financial Planning for Individuals and Families

Financial planning services are principally advisory in nature, and most often involves providing a variety of services based upon an analysis of one's individual and family needs.

The scope of services you are provided will be defined in writing through mutual agreement and selection, from the start of our client-adviser relationship. Scope of service may be revised in the course of this relationship - again, always through written mutual agreement. At the inception of the client-adviser relationship, we will collect data and review your financial information and circumstances. We will assist and help you better define your short and long-term objectives. Once such information has been reviewed and analyzed, written reports designed to achieve your stated financial objectives will be produced and presented to you. The process is focused on your needs and with purpose of developing a strategy for successfully managing and meeting your defined investment objectives. Your goals and objectives are documented and retained for consideration as we monitor your progress.

Financial plans may incorporate recommendations with respect to cash flow, assets and liabilities, asset allocation, insurance analysis, education funding, retirement planning, estate planning, tax strategies, and small business planning. Financial plans are presented based upon information you've disclosed and provided about your financial circumstance. Additionally, financial planning services include periodic reviews and assistance to you in implementing your plan as mutually agreed upon.

You are advised that certain assumptions may be made with respect to interest and inflation rates and the use of past trends and performance of the market and economy. Past performance is never an indicator for future performance. We cannot offer any guarantees or promises that your investment goals and objectives will be met. Portfolio composition and asset allocation is appropriately distributed and diversified to match your investment objectives. As your financial situation, goals, objectives, or needs change, you must notify us promptly.

We take an active role in communicating and educating you about your investments. We communicate the importance of having personal investor discipline, along with your saving and spending habits as factors that greatly influence wealth accumulation and financial stability. We devise asset allocation strategies based on information that you provide.

You will have a responsibility to promptly notify us of changes to your circumstances, financial status, objectives, or risk tolerance. Consistent with our investment philosophy, absent a material change in your circumstances, the composition or allocation of your assets may remain relatively unchanged over time.

Insurance Analysis

We believe that creating a good foundation for a well-rounded financial plan starts with addressing common personal and business risks (as a business owner) by focusing on common insurance policy (or policies) our clients may presently have or should have in-force for their particular risks (i.e. Home, Auto, Umbrella, Term Life, Disability, Health, Business Owners Liability, etc.). With your additional permission elected under our written agreement, you may elect to receive quotes and offerings of insurance products directly from the investment adviser representative or their agency with no obligation to purchase.

Within the normal scope of financial planning is a review of your insurance. In addition to providing financial planning and investment management, the investment adviser representative may offer insurance products to you in their capacity as an insurance agent. You are never obligated to buy such products through the investment adviser representative or their agency, but when you choose to do so the adviser representative and their agency will receive commission compensation.

A Privacy Policy, Use of Consumer or Business Credit Score, and Collection of Personally Identifiable Information (PII) disclosures are provided in writing prior to quoting insurance. Further information about the advisers' outside insurance business, compensation, and potential client-adviser conflict of interest is detailed in Item 10.C of this brochure.

ERISA and IRA Rollover Considerations

As part of our advisory services, we may recommend that you withdraw the assets from your employer's retirement plan and roll the assets over to an individual retirement account ("IRA") that we can manage on your behalf. This process is called a "rollover." You are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to perform a rollover to an IRA. Moreover, if you do complete the rollover, you are under no obligation to have the assets in an IRA managed by our firm. Most people consider performing a rollover when they leave an employer by way of job change or retirement. However, sometimes employees can also move assets out of their company plan while still employed.

When leaving an employer (separation of service), you may typically have these options:

- leave your funds in your former employer's plan
- move the funds to a new employer's plan
- cash out and take a taxable distribution from the plan
- or roll the funds into an IRA account and continue tax-deferral

Each of these options has advantages and disadvantages. As your fiduciary, we accept the requirement to act in your best interest at all times, and our compensation is not dependent upon choosing a particular option. Thus, before making any changes to your retirement plan accounts, we will discuss these options and recommend a course of action, that in our opinion best serves your goals and financial objectives.

Here are some of the considerations we will evaluate when developing a recommendation:

- Strength of protection from creditors or adverse legal judgment
- Fees and expenses of available account / plan types
- Services offered under plans (i.e. advice, planning tools, workshops, etc.)
- Possible differences in allowed plan withdrawals
- Employer-sponsored plan rules for granting or holding of stock
- If you'll likely be working and deferring compensation with same employer after you reach the age of 70 and ½ years.

B.2 Financial Planning Services for Businesses and Employer-Sponsored Plans

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC may provide consulting services to employer-sponsored plans, including investment advice, fiduciary due diligence services, employee education, asset allocation, vendor research, and plan design guidance.

B.2a Securities Analysis and Fiduciary Due Diligence

The investment adviser may provide securities analysis and fiduciary due diligence research services. The investment adviser may provide plan fiduciaries with reports on securities that include historical information such as past performance, holdings, management, and cost. Based on the results of these reports, the Investment adviser may recommend the plan sponsor make changes to the investments offered to plan participants.

B.2b Plan Design

Prospective clients wishing to implement and sponsor a retirement benefit plan are advised regarding the design, features, and benefits available. Plan reviews and analysis of features include:

- Employer contribution formulas
- Eligibility, vesting, and forfeiture requirements
- Entry and re-entry dates
- Enrollment and escalation provisions

The investment adviser may evaluate and recommend amendments to an existing investment policy statement or draft a new investment policy statement for the plan sponsor's review and consideration. We recommend appropriate amendments to benefit the plan sponsor and plan participants.

B.2c Plan Participant Engagement and Retirement Investment Education

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC may provide services to businesses with employer-sponsored plans. Services provided to participants may include enrollment and investment education support. Employees who are eligible for and choose to participate in an employer-sponsored plan are considered plan participants. Utilizing United States Department of Labor and ERISA guidelines, we institute a process that educates and empowers participants to make informed choices about their plan features, benefits, and allocations.

B.2d Plan Asset Allocation Models

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC may create, monitor, adjust, and rebalance asset allocation models (“Models”) for use by plan sponsors as an investment tool provided to plan participants to assist them in making asset allocation decisions for portfolio composition (i.e. between equity and fixed income). Models are designed to meet different investment objectives based on risk level. The purpose of utilizing models is to better communicate how plan participants may meet their investment objectives over the long-term by allocating their investments across many asset classes (i.e. between equity and fixed income). Plan participants alone bear the risk of investment results from the options and asset allocation they select.

B.2e Vendor Research

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC may assist plan sponsors with the selection of service providers for their plan. We will base our vendor recommendations upon a review of available market-competitive and solution capable vendors. Vendors and proposals previously submitted and reviewed by our clients outside of our engagement may be gathered and used for consideration and comparison purposes. The vendor review process typically includes an evaluation of administrative, recordkeeping, compliance, and employee communication services, administrative and investment-related fees, and an investment review that incorporates an analysis similar to the investment due diligence process described above. Services may include plan pricing and contract negotiation between plan sponsor and new vendor, provider, or administrator.

B.2f Consultation Agreements with Other Investment Advisory Firms

The investment adviser may enter into agreements with other investment advisory firms to provide expertise to clients regarding employer-sponsored plans. Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC will be paid a mutually agreeable fee for each consulting engagement, which will be specified by written agreement prior to providing services. Our contracts (whether oral or written) may not be assigned to any other person or entity without prior written client consent.

Fiduciary Role under ERISA with respect to Employer-Sponsored Plans

The agreement between Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC and the plan sponsor will specify the nature of our fiduciary role. Under the Employment Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) of 1974, as amended, the investment adviser is a “co-fiduciary” when the firm’s services are subject to the provisions of ERISA.

As interpreted under ERISA guidelines, we may operate as a 3(21) investment adviser in a role as co-fiduciary with you our client employer plan-sponsor; where we provide advice to you the plan-sponsor with respect to investments or securities to be made available to participants within the plan offering menu, and you our client employer-sponsor will retain discretion to accept or reject investment advice.

Less often, we may operate as a 3(38) investment adviser with fiduciary responsibility for management of plan assets. As an investment adviser with discretionary authority for investment selection, we retain a greater portion of the fiduciary liability to participants as you the employer-sponsor shifts this fiduciary risk for investment selection to us the adviser. Even during such relationships, the employer and plan sponsor trustee(s) retain their co-fiduciary duty to monitor our investment activities.

B.3 Investment / Asset Management

We do not rely upon or give preference to any one type of security over another and offer advice on a broad range of investments. Our investment recommendation process seeks to minimize your portfolio acquisition and maintenance costs. The investment adviser evaluates your current investments with respect to your risk tolerance level and time horizon. Your risk tolerance is determined by analysis and weighting of a broad range of questions for your careful consideration. The output measure of this risk tolerance analysis is documented in your investment policy statement and is provided to you prior to investment implementation. Your investment policy statement serves as a general description of the strategies that the investment adviser should employ, as well as any restrictions that have been agreed upon to meet those objectives.

We may utilize information gathered in the financial planning process at the inception of the relationship. The personal information we gather includes but is not limited to your tolerance and capacity for assuming risk, investment objectives, and other information pertinent to your life need and circumstance.

You will be provided a personalized, written investment policy statement form. Based upon the investment policy statement, we will recommend an initial portfolio of securities that may be customized for you in accordance with your risk tolerance and investment objectives.

We may invest your assets according to one or more model portfolios utilized by our firm. Once we construct an investment portfolio for you, or select a model portfolio, we will monitor your portfolio's performance on an ongoing basis, and will place trades and rebalance the portfolio as required by changes in market conditions and/or your financial circumstances.

Our advice is tailored to meet the needs of our clients and their investment objectives.

For all accounts subject to ERISA law and including Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) we offer non-discretionary investment management.

Our non-discretionary Investment Management service and agreement will require us to first consult with you before placing any specific order and obtain specific authorization from you for each specific transaction or trades in your accounts as specified under agreement.

If you participate in our discretionary investment management services, we require you to grant our firm discretionary authority to manage your account. Discretionary authorization will allow our firm to determine the specific securities, and the amount of securities, to be purchased or sold for your account without your approval prior to each transaction. Discretionary authority is typically granted by the written client advisory agreement you sign with our firm, a power of attorney, or trading authorization forms. With discretionary authority, the investment adviser selects investments or trades securities on your behalf. The investment adviser has discretion to the order type and time to be placed (i.e. market order, limit order, good for day, good until cancelled, all or none, fill or kill, etc.).

The investment adviser will at no time have custody of your funds, securities, or proceeds there from; except with respect to investment adviser fees debited from your account per our written client-adviser agreement. We will and must obtain information from you about your financial situation, investment objectives, and agreed upon account restrictions before opening or managing any account.

B.4 Bespoke and Unique Projects

Some clients may request only limited advice regarding a discreet aspect of the management of their personal financial or business resources. For these clients Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC may offer services in a modular format or consulting services limited to those specific areas of interest or concern. Such clients may be charged differently than our typical financial planning and/or investment management clients.

C. Client Imposed Restrictions and Tailored Services

The uniqueness of each of our clients, along with the bespoke nature of financial plans, necessitates that we tailor and implement our investment management to the comfort, values, beliefs, and interests (likes or dislikes) of the client. As such, we allow all clients the opportunity to place restrictions to services, their accounts, or investment implementation and management.

Through our written customer agreement, you may place reasonable restrictions including:

- Invoke or Revoke Discretionary Authority - By written selection on your written client-adviser agreement, you (our client) have the choice to have investments managed in a discretionary or non-discretionary manner. You may select to invoke or revoke discretionary authority and have your investments managed in that manner of choice. Any changes to discretionary authority will always be by written agreement. Without your approval for discretionary authorization, our firm will not execute any trades for purchase, sale, or exchange of securities in your investment account(s) without your verbal or written approval prior to each transaction.
- Restriction of purchasing securities of particular issuers or industry (or industries) - You may impose restrictions to investing in certain securities or types of securities in accordance with your values or beliefs.

If restrictions prevent the investment adviser from properly servicing your account, or if the restrictions would require the investment adviser to deviate from its standard suite of services, the investment adviser reserves the right to end the relationship.

All limitations and restrictions placed on accounts must be presented to Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC in writing. All agreed restrictions will be documented through our written client-adviser agreement, as signed or amended, and will also be reflected within the language provided to you when receiving your written investment policy statement.

D. Wrap Fee Program

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC is not participating in (or offering) a wrap fee program. A wrap fee program is where the investment adviser will bundle services or offer features like paying for and covering the transactional costs of the clients account (i.e. trade fees and account fees), as covered as bundled in the advisers stated investment management fee.

E. Assets Under Management

Client total assets under investment management services as of March 13, 2026

Non-Discretionary Amounts $3,159,250

ITEM 5: FEES AND COMPENSATION

A. Fee Schedule

The specific manner fees are charged by Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC is established in every client's written agreement with the investment adviser. Our contracts may not be assigned to any other person or entity without your prior written consent.

1. Fee for Individual/Family Financial Planning - Comprehensive Financial Plan

- Pre-negotiated Flat Initial Fee (typically $1,800)
- Annual recurring fee, (typically $240 annually, $60 per labor hour, or whichever is greater)

Planning fees may be waived or discounted at the discretion of the investment adviser. Waiver or discounts to our financial planning services are based on time and work involved fulfilling the present and/or ongoing financial planning needs of a particular client. We may, at our sole discretion, for calculation and negotiation of our planning fees, take into consideration any number of factors including and without limitation to: relationship longevity, complexity of situation, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client, account retention, and pro bono activities (i.e. family with limited financial resources or assets), etc.

2. Fee for Financial Planning for Businesses and Employer-Sponsored Plans

Employer-sponsored plan clients of Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC will either be charged an annual fee calculated as a percentage of the value of plan assets, a fixed annual fee, or some combination of the two. The fee is negotiable and will vary among different clients. Asset based fees range from .125% to 1.25% of plan assets.

Considerations used to determine our fee include and are not limited to: scope of services provided, duration of contract, size of the client (number of employees / value of plan assets), and degree of plan complexity. Fee and fee calculations are specific to each client-adviser written agreement.

3. Investment Management Asset Based Fee Schedule – for individuals and families

Investment management fees are based on a percentage of assets (shown in the below table as incremental one-eighth fractions of 1 percent), charged to your Net Asset Value NAV asset base. Fees are negotiable and will vary among different clients. Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC will generally bill its fees in arrears on a quarterly basis absent other arrangements requested by the client. Clients may elect to authorize Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC to directly debit fees from client accounts or a direct billing arrangement. Your asset base, including cash, is determined on the last day of the quarter. Fee rates may also be billed under a daily rate calculation, such as the annual rate divided by number of trading days in the year and billed quarterly as a summation of the trading days in the respective quarter. Our fee, and how it is to be calculated, is specified in the written advisory agreement with each client.

Fraction of 1%	Percentage	Asset Base
1	1.00%	< $2,000,000
7/8	0.875%	> 2,000,000
3/4	0.75%	> 4,000,000
5/8	0.625%	> 8,000,000
1/2	0.50%	> 16,000,000
3/8	0.375%	> 32,000,000

4. Fee for Bespoke and Unique Projects

We may occasionally undertake a special or unique project that is not described in our normal written service agreement. Fees for these services are negotiable and may be based on a percentage of assets under management, an annual retainer, or hourly rates ranging from $60/hour to $1,000/hour and are set forth in the client's agreement with Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC. Scope, length of service, and services to be provided are all quoted in writing before any work begins on any such project. Bespoke and Unique Project fees are due at time of service, unless otherwise indicated in our written agreement and billing arrangement (Example, as a financial related service, a unique project could be something like assisting and finding bill paying services for a person with special needs).

B. Payment of Fees

Billing is based on the previous quarter end closing account value. Clients may elect to be billed directly for fees or may authorize the investment adviser to directly debit fees from client accounts. We will deduct our fee directly from your investment account through the qualified custodian holding your funds and securities only when you have given our firm written authorization permitting the fees to be paid directly from your account. Further, our qualified custodian(s) will deliver an account statement to you at least quarterly. These account statements will show all disbursements from your account. You should review all statements for accuracy. If mutually agreed upon, we may invoice you directly for the payment of our fee. In the event your agreement is executed at any time other than the first day of a calendar quarterly period, an initial adjusted fee will be applied based upon days remaining in current calendar period. Subsequent payments will be calculated and billed as payable within ten days after the first day of the calendar quarter period.

Additional Considerations for IRA Rollovers

When seeking to rollover ERISA employer-sponsored plan account(s) to a new or existing IRA account, you should be aware you may potentially lose certain advantages, trigger tax implications / consequences, and/or incur higher costs. Clients are encouraged to understand the risks, costs, benefits, and features to be gained or lost from performing a rollover.

Past Due Accounts and Termination of Agreement

Upon termination of any written agreement, any unearned, but paid fees will be refunded. Conversely, upon termination of any written agreement, any earned, but unpaid fees will be due, billable, and payable. Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC reserves the right to stop work on any account that is more than 60 days overdue.

In addition, the investment adviser reserves the right to terminate any financial planning engagement where a client has willfully concealed or has refused to provide pertinent information about financial situations when necessary and appropriate, in the investment adviser's judgment, to providing proper financial advice. Any unused portion of fees collected in advance will be refunded within 15 business days.

Clients who wish to terminate their agreement with Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC may do so by notifying us in writing. Verbal communication of intent to terminate our services will prompt us to ask for this request in writing. We may also offer you our termination letter that requests your signature. If services are terminated within 5 business days from the date of executing our initial agreement, services will be terminated and you will be provided a full refund of any paid fees. After the initial 5 business days the client may be responsible to pay fees for the number of days services were provided prior to receipt of the notice of termination.

A business day will be defined under our agreements as a day where the NYSE is open for normal market trading.

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC may terminate its agreement with a client upon written notice to them. In the event of termination by either party, any prepaid but unearned fees will be reimbursed to the client based on the date of termination.

C. Client Responsibility for Third Party Fees

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC is not a custodian of client assets. Our clients' assets are held at independent qualified custodians and institutions such as INTERACTIVE BROKERS, INC., Member NYSE. Also, assets may in some cases remain held within our client's employers' retirement plans, or in client directed brokerage accounts with other firms.

Custodians (such as INTERACTIVE BROKERS, INC.) may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of certain mutual funds, stocks, bonds, and exchange-traded funds. Other small and incidental fee charges in relation to securities transactions may also include: postage and handling, expedited check processing, mailings in conjunction with an asset transfer, and regulatory processing fees (fee levied to recover costs associated with fees assessed by self-regulatory organizations).

Mutual funds or Exchange Traded Funds generally charge a management fee for their services as investment fund managers. The management fee is called an expense ratio. For example, an expense ratio of 0.50 means that the mutual fund company charges 0.5% for their services. All Mutual Fund or Exchange Traded Fund operating expense fees are third party fees and are in addition to our investment management fee.

We may trade client accounts on margin. Each client must sign a separate margin agreement before margin is extended to that client account. The use of margin may also result in interest charges in addition to all other fees and expenses associated with the security involved. Please refer to Item 12 of this brochure for more information on Brokerage Practices.

You may, in the scope of financial planning, be referred to providers and professionals outside this firm, to whom you will be engaged directly, without our monitoring or oversight, who likely carry their own separate customer agreements, billing arrangements, fees, charges, or premiums.

Upon your direction, order, and consent, we may coordinate with other professionals presently retained by you, such as accountants, insurance agents, and attorneys. You should be aware that the fees you incur with other professionals in connection with this process are not included as part of the advisory fees charged by the investment adviser.

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC does not provide legal advice and its representatives are not tax professionals.

Unless expressly written under customer agreement, you, our clients, or prospective clients are always solely and fully responsible for outside expenses and third party fees.

D. Prepayment of Fees

At no time will we charge you more than $500 and for six months or more in advance of time of service. If our agreement is terminated prior to fulfillment of service or end of service period, any pre-paid fees that have not been subject to the service period, ending on date of termination, will be refunded by a pro-rata factor (example, days remaining unused divided by total days within service period) Refunds will be postmarked no later than fifteen business days past date of termination of agreement. A business day is defined as a day where the NYSE is open for normal market trading.

E. External Compensation for the Sale of Securities to Clients

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC does not receive any external compensation for the sale of securities to clients, nor do any of the investment adviser representatives of Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC.

ITEM 6: PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC does not accept performance-based fees or participate in side-by-side management. Side-by-side management refers to the practice of managing accounts that are charged performance-based fees while at the same time managing accounts that are not charged performance-based fees. Performance-based fees are fees that are based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of a client's account. Our fees are calculated as described in the Investment Management Asset Based Fee Schedule above, and are not charged on the basis of a share of capital gains upon or capital appreciation of the funds in your account(s).

ITEM 7: TYPES OF CLIENTS

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC provides investment advisory services to individual clients and high net-worth families, business owners, and their employer-sponsored defined contribution and/or benefit plans. The relationship we have with our clients varies in scope and duration of service.

In general, we require a minimum of $5,000 in investable assets to open and maintain an investment management account. At our discretion, we may waive this minimum account size. For example, we may waive the minimum if you appear to have significant potential for increasing your assets under our management.

ITEM 8: METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES, AND RISK OF LOSS

A. Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you the investor should be prepared to bear. Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns.

Our methods of investment analysis include fundamental, technical, and cyclical analysis.

Fundamental analysis involves evaluating an investment using real data such as company revenues, earnings, return on equity, and profit margins to determine underlying value, growth potential, and overall financial health.

Technical analysis involves studying and utilizing trend forecasts of price movement for individual securities or a basket of securities such as a broad market index (i.e. S&P 500). Technical analysis is primarily concerned with trends within a securities price, volume, and open interest.

Cyclical analysis involves studying business cycles or other economic cycles and how they may impact or affect investment returns, asset classes, or an individual securities' performance. Cyclical trends exist because the broad economy tends to move with periods of economic expansion and periods of economic contraction.

When determining the suitability of our investment recommendations, we carefully consider / analyze:

- Personal documents (i.e. tax return, budget worksheet, cash flow report, net worth – personal balance sheet
- Fees and expenses
- Objective risk and return
- Investment Time Horizon
- Past performance relative to benchmark
- Statistical measures (i.e. interest sensitivity and bond duration, turnover, standard deviation, alpha, beta, etc.)
- Valuation measures (i.e. price to sales, price to earnings, earnings momentum)
- Liquidity and marketability of investment (i.e. minimum holding period, daily volume, or market breadth)
- The issuing company management's experience, reputation, stability, style, and tenure

- Vendor adequacy or ability to service plan sponsor and plan participant needs (i.e. fund company 401k prototype plan features and suitability)

Additionally, we will use and discern available public information for research and determination of investment recommendations. We access stock reports from institutions such as Standard & Poor's and Moody's Value-Line. We screen funds utilizing tools such as Morningstar. We utilize library resources and other publicly available databases provided by websites such as National Bureau of Economic Research, St. Louis Fed FRED, SEC-EDGAR Filings, and NYSE / NASDAQ market statistics, to name many. Additionally, we utilize information sources such as financial newspapers, magazines, securities prospectus, regulatory filings, and company financial reports or press releases.

We (you and us) together will establish an investment strategy unique to your stated financial objectives. The strategy will be defined and agreed upon in writing in our client-adviser agreement. Over time, you may find it necessary to make changes to your objectives. Any changes or amendments to the investment strategy will be documented and agreed upon in writing.

The significant majority of our recommendations will employ passive, cost-efficient, and tax-efficient investment strategies. Strategies are typically based on long-term secular fundamentals. Typical investment portfolios will be diversified extensively across the globe and over multiple asset classes (i.e. Equities, Fixed Income, Real Estate, Precious Metals, and Derivatives). We seek to find the optimally efficient risk-adjusted return that suits your objectives and investor suitability profile. We seek strategies that offer long-term margins of safety, with the intention to avoid any permanent loss of capital (as opposed to short or intermediate term losses due to market fluctuation). We may on occasion attempt to take advantage of opportunities in the markets by employing investment strategies that might include inverse, over/under weighting positions, or avoiding a particular asset type altogether. We may also utilize trading on margin, short positions, and options (including covered options, straddles, or spreads). Additionally, we may deploy measures such as rebalancing your portfolio allocation at agreed upon intervals, or upon reaching certain targets (i.e. age, account value, life goal, etc.).

To maintain the flexible nature of our investment strategy, cash or cash equivalent securities may be held in any amount (any allocation weighting) and at any given time.

We further limit over-concentration of individual equity positions within individual retirement accounts and will limit initial position purchases to not greater than 5% your total retirement account assets.

B. Material Risks Involved

There is no guarantee that our services or method of analysis can or will predict future results. We make no representation that our method can or will be successful in identifying a market top or bottom. We offer no representation that our service will insulate you (the investor) from losses due to market correction or decline. We cannot offer any guarantee or promise in meeting your goals and objectives.

Our analysis method relies on the assumption that securities issuers, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly available sources of information about these securities, are providing accurate and unbiased data. We remain vigilant to indications of incorrect data and cautious that inaccurate or misleading information could compromise our analysis.

The material risks associated with the strategies employed by Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC are discussed below:

Market Risk: Market risk refers to the risk related to investments in securities in general and the daily fluctuations in the securities markets. Investments are affected by many factors, including fluctuation in interest rates, quality of ratings given by analysts, geo-political conditions, and the general health of the economy.

Small Cap and Mid Cap Company Risk: Investments in small and mid-capitalization companies involve greater risks than investments in larger, more established companies. These companies may not have the size, resources or other assets of large capitalization companies, and may experience higher growth and higher failure rates than do larger companies. Because they may have limited product lines and financial resources, small and mid-capitalization companies also may be more vulnerable to economic, market and industry changes. As a result, share price changes may be more sudden or erratic than the prices of other equity securities, especially over the short term.

Foreign Investment – Emerging Market Risk: Foreign investments carry risks that may include: fluctuating currency values, geo-political turmoil, gaps in data or information, accounting standards, lower liquidity, and higher volatility.

Emerging Markets Risk: Emerging market countries are less developed and have securities markets that are less liquid and subject to greater price volatility. These countries may have government instability and deficiencies in regulatory oversight, market infrastructure, shareholder protections, and laws that may carry risk beyond those generally encountered in developed countries. Emerging market economies tend to carry greater levels of debt and often rely heavily on foreign capital. Emerging

Markets are likely to experience higher levels of inflation, deflation, currency fluctuation, and are considered to be a more speculative investment.

Investment Company Risk: Clients invested in mutual funds, closed-end funds, exchange-traded funds, and other pooled investment funds will indirectly bear fees and expenses charged by the underlying investment funds. Clients also may incur brokerage costs when purchasing exchange-traded funds and closed-end funds. Investments in investment companies are also subject to the risks described in the respective investment company's prospectus.

Interest Rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. If interest rates increase, the value of fixed income securities generally will decline. Inversely, if interest rates decline, the value of fixed income securities generally increases. Securities with longer maturities tend to produce higher yields, but are more sensitive (Bond Duration) to changes in interest rates and are subject to greater fluctuations in value.

Credit Risk: The issuer of a security may not be able to make interest and principal payments when due. Generally, a lower credit rating for a security means it has greater risk of default and corresponding investor loss.

Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will buy more than a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.

Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. In general, the greater the amount of open interest (quantity of market participants), the more liquid the investment. We mitigate liquidity risk by investing in securities that are publicly traded with large open-interest.

Options Risk: Options (puts and calls) present risks related to their significant price volatility and may expire out-of-the-money and with little or no value.

C. Risks of Specific Securities Utilized

As previously disclosed in above section (Item 4, Part B.3) – Advisory Business - Investment Management, we recommend all types of securities and we do not necessarily recommend one particular type of security over another since each client has different needs and tolerance for risk. Each type of security has its own unique set of associated risk.

The investment strategies we employ are not intended to pose any significant additional risk beyond that of the general market risk of global equity and fixed income markets. Due to the vast nature of securities offerings and investment opportunities available in the public market place, it would be unreasonable to possibly list and disclose here under this brochure an exhaustive list of all specific risks associated with every type of investment. In very general terms, the greater the anticipated return of an investment, the greater risk of potential loss from that investment.

The investment adviser and representative(s) of this firm are expected to adhere strictly to our Code of Ethics and guidelines set forth in our firm operations and compliance manual(s), as well as comply with all applicable state and federal securities laws.

The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to:

- confidentiality of client information
- prohibition of insider trading
- personal securities trading procedures

- training and education
- record keeping and reviews
- restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC's intent is that all clients are treated fairly and equally, and reasonably endeavors to prevent a conflict from influencing the allocation of investment opportunities among clients. Our goal is to protect your interests at all times and to demonstrate our commitment to our fiduciary duties of honesty, good faith, and fair dealing.

In addition to your account custodian(s) required recordkeeping, this firm may retain business records (i.e. personally identifiable information data, account forms, and documentation related to your firm engagement) and stored privately in file cabinets and/or on encrypted computer systems exclusive to this adviser firm. We have established procedures for the maintenance of data systems and all required books, records, and ledgers.

B. Recommendations Involving Material Financial Interests

Neither Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC, nor its' representative(s) ever recommend or effect a trade on securities in which they have a material financial interest.

C. Investing Personal Money in the Same Securities as Clients

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC and its representative(s) may purchase or sell securities similar or identical to those recommended to you within our/their personal accounts. Consistent with our fiduciary duty to act in your best interest, we will not execute trades that would be adverse to the performance of your investments or client experience with our firm. Certain classes of securities (i.e. widely held index ETFs) have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that due to the market breadth of these securities, our activities would have no material impact on price and would not interfere with your best interests

D. Trading Securities at/around the same Time as Clients' Securities

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC and its representative(s) will not purchase or sell securities similar (or identical) to those recommended to you within our/their personal accounts, prior to implementing those recommendations or trades for you (i.e. front running). Consistent with our fiduciary duty to act in your best interest, we will not execute trades that would be adverse to the performance of your investments or client experience with our firm.

We may combine our securities trade orders (tickets) along with your trade orders (tickets) to buy or sell securities ("block trading"). Please refer to the Brokerage Practices (Item 12) in this brochure for more information on block trading practices.

ITEM 12: BROKERAGE PRACTICES

A. Factors Used to Select Custodians and/or Broker/Dealers

Financial Institutions such as banks, broker-dealers, and custodians typically receive compensation by charging account fees (i.e. annual custody fee, trade-ticket charges, commissions, and other securities execution and settlement fees).

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC utilize qualified broker-dealer services based only on merit to our client's circumstance and will never be contingent upon us committing any specific amount of business to any broker-dealer or custodian for volume of trade, assets placed in custody, or annual broker-earned commission minimums.

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC will endeavor to select those brokers-dealers that provide the best services at the lowest commission rates reasonable to your (and our) collective circumstance. The reasonableness of commissions is based on the broker's stability, reputation, ability to provide professional services, competitive commission price rate, research, trading platform, and other services which may help Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC in providing you our advisory services. We are diligent to find and utilize only dealers with competitive rates, but may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible industry-wide commission rate for each and every single security transaction. Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC never charges or adds additional commission rate above those actual costs assessed by the qualified custodian broker-dealer.

1. Research and Soft-Dollar Benefits Broker/Dealers

We do not utilize or receive any part of any broker-dealers' commission (or markup or markdown) of any securities, for obtaining any additional benefit (i.e. soft-dollar services, proprietary research, etc.) from any broker-dealer (nor any third party provider of non-proprietary research).

An investment adviser (such as this firm) may have an interest in recommending a broker-dealer based on receiving research and other services. This incentive may conflict with your interest in receiving the most favorable trade execution.

Our brokerage practice does not (will not) compel you or any of our clients to pay commissions (or markups or markdowns) higher than those charged by other broker-dealers in return for soft dollar benefits (known as paying-up).

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC does not attempt to put a specific dollar value on the services rendered or to allocate the relative costs or benefits of those services among clients, believing that the adviser resources received (i.e. securities and portfolio research, etc.) will help us to fulfill our overall duty to our clients.

Consistent with obtaining best execution for clients, Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC may direct brokerage transactions for clients' portfolios to broker-dealers who provide research and execution services to Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC and, indirectly, to Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC's clients. In accordance with the provisions of Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and safe harbor provisions therein, the determinative factor for a broker with best execution is not the lowest possible commission cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution for your managed account. In this connection, we evaluate the performance of broker-dealers executing their transactions and the associated costs. We review information about trade execution through direct experience with your (our client's) accounts, broker/dealer advertised rates, and trade publications that may disseminate broker data (i.e. commission rates, ticket charges, account fees, etc.).

2. Brokerage for Client Referrals

We have made no arrangement to receive referrals from broker-dealers or third parties, and are never compelled to utilize a broker-dealer (or third party) for the exchange of a client or prospective client referral. We acknowledge that such referral arrangement may create a conflict of interest for an investment adviser. The conflict is that the adviser may have an incentive to select or recommend a broker-dealer based on receiving other client referrals, rather than on your interest in receiving most favorable execution.

3. Directed Brokerage

Adviser Recommended or Directed Brokerage

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC does not require you to execute transactions through a specified broker-dealer (not all advisers require their clients to direct brokerage). Although not a requirement, Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC may recommend (or prefer to use) INTERACTIVE BROKERS, INC. – who provides our firm with useful adviser access to securities transaction services and research. Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC may recommend non-institutional clients utilize the trading, custody, and clearing services of INTERACTIVE BROKERS, INC. Our firm is not affiliated with INTERACTIVE BROKERS, INC., nor any other broker-dealer. We have no economic relationship or material conflict of interest with any broker-dealer.

Factors which Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC considers in recommending INTERACTIVE BROKERS, INC. (or any other broker-dealer) to clients include their stability, reputation, ability to provide professional services, competitive commission price rate, research, trading platform, and other client focused services.

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC is not required by INTERACTIVE BROKERS, INC. to commit any specific amount of business (i.e. set minimum expectations for volume of trade, assets placed in custody, or annual broker-earned commissions) in exchange for access to their services.

INTERACTIVE BROKERS, INC. has made the following services available with the intention to help us manage and further develop our firm's business:

- Provide access to client account data (i.e. trade confirmations, account statements, pricing, market data)
- Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts
- Facilitate payment of our fees from your respective accounts to which they custody
- Assist back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting services.

In recommending and/or directing your account brokerage to INTERACTIVE BROKERS, INC., our firm may be unable to achieve the most favorable execution of your transactions and this practice may cost you (our clients) more money.

Client Directed Brokerage

In writing, along with any other necessary trading authorization forms, you (our clients) may direct Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC to use one or more particular brokers or custodians instead of INTERACTIVE BROKERS, INC. to execute some or all of your transactions. In this instance, you will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with that Financial Institution. By directing our firm to use a particular broker, you should understand that this might prevent our firm from aggregating trades with other client accounts. Client-Directed Brokerage may also prevent our firm from obtaining favorable net price and execution. As such, when you direct the investment adviser where to place your brokerage business you should consider the commissions, execution, and trade settlement capabilities obtained through your broker-dealer to determine the adequacy and favorable comparison to those that the investment adviser would otherwise obtain for you. When you (the client) direct the investment adviser to a specified dealer, the firm may be unable to achieve the most favorable execution of your transactions and this practice may cost you (our clients) more money.

Subject to our duty of best execution, and at the sole discretion of Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC, we may decline your request to direct brokerage if such directed brokerage arrangements will result in additional operational difficulties.

B. Conditions for Aggregating (or Not) Block Trading Client Accounts

Trade aggregation is the act of trading a large block of a security in a single order for multiple client accounts. Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC will block trades where possible and when advantageous to you. Trade aggregation rules permit the trading of blocks of securities composed of assets from multiple client accounts, so long as transaction costs are shared equally and on a pro-rated basis between all accounts included in any such trade. Block trading may allow us to execute securities trades in a time-efficient and more equitable manner. Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC will typically aggregate trades among clients whose accounts can be traded at a given broker-dealer, and generally will rotate or vary the order of broker-dealers through which it places trades for clients on any particular day. We may not aggregate your securities for execution if the practice is prohibited by or inconsistent with your written client-adviser agreement or our firm's order allocation policy. The main purpose of order aggregation is ease of trade implementation and lower transaction cost (i.e. fewer ticket charges or brokerage fees).

Conversely, if the investment adviser does not aggregate trades, it may result in higher transaction costs, as there might be additional ticket charges or brokerage fees associated with individual trades. Funds and securities for aggregated orders are clearly identified on Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC's records and to the broker-dealers or other intermediaries handling the transactions, by the appropriate account numbers for each participating client.

ITEM 13: REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

A. Frequency and Nature of Periodic Reviews and Who Makes Those Reviews

The investment adviser representative Spencer Hawkins, CFP® conducts the review of all firm managed accounts as needed or agreed upon in our client-adviser agreement.

Investment Management

Our firm will monitor your accounts on an ongoing basis and will conduct periodic reviews to ensure our investment management is consistent with your written investment policy statement and consistently follows your financial objectives.

You will receive trade confirmations and quarterly statements (or monthly) from your account custodian(s), detailing the investment performance and activity of your account(s).

Financial Planning

We will provide financial planning reports summarizing our analysis and conclusions as defined in the client-adviser agreement. We will review/update your reports at your request, as needed, and/or as detailed in our written agreement. Reviews/updates may be subject to an additional fee. Reviews may occur at different stages depending on the nature and terms of our specific engagement. Financial Planning clients will receive a completed financial plan, and additional future reports will not typically be provided unless otherwise agreed upon or contracted in writing. In addition, clients understand that each written financial plan is a model with a view at one moment in time and will change continually.

B. Factors Triggering a Non-Periodic Review of Client Accounts

More frequent reviews may be triggered by material changes in variables regarding your individual circumstance: risk tolerance, objectives, taxes, personal savings or withdrawal rate, etc. Reviews may also be triggered by material changes in variables such as: market events, political or economic environment, changes in risk to a particular issue or type of security, etc.

C. Content and Frequency of Regular Reports Provided to Clients

You will receive written quarterly (or monthly) statements from qualified custodians, brokerage firms, which report on your account's individual holdings, cost basis information, deposits and withdrawals, accrued income, dividends, and performance. In addition, you may receive trade confirmations for each position purchased, sold, or exchanged. Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC may periodically prepare reports or communications related to our fee calculation, investment management, and financial planning services. Supplemental reports may be provided to you as necessary.

ITEM 14: CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

A. Economic Benefits Provided by Third Parties for Advice Rendered to Clients (Includes Sales Awards or Other Prizes)

We receive neither direct nor indirect economic benefits from any third party for providing you our advice. Please refer to Item 12 above for disclosures on research and other “soft dollar” benefits received as a result of our relationship with custodian broker-dealers and other institutions.

Please review Item 10.C for further detail about economic benefits received from third parties relating to the investment adviser representative(s) compensation as it pertains to their insurance agent activities.

Spencer Hawkins Investment Adviser, LLC does not pay, nor does it receive, compensation in any form for client referrals. We do not receive any compensation from any third party, nor do we compensate any individual or firm for client referrals.

ITEM 15: CUSTODY

Investment assets (securities) are held with a qualified custodian (i.e. broker dealer, mutual fund company, etc.) of your choice - as agreed upon in your client-adviser agreement. Your selected custodian will generate and deliver your quarterly (or monthly) statements. As is customary with all financial services firms, statements will indicate all relevant information regarding transactional activity within your account(s), and will include and reflect any amounts disbursed from your account for the management fee of our firm - as agreed. Under this arrangement, your independent custodian will act as paying agent for our firm and directly debit your account(s) for the payment of our management fee. Accordingly, this firm is deemed to exercise only limited custody over your funds or securities.

The investment adviser is responsible for calculating the amount of the fee to be deducted. As such, it is important for you to carefully review custodial statements to verify the accuracy of our calculation. If you believe there is an inaccuracy in your statement, or if you did not receive a statement from your custodian, please contact us as soon as possible so we may review and correct the error.

ITEM 16: INVESTMENT DISCRETION

Our non-discretionary Investment Management service requires us to first consult with you before placing any specific order and obtain specific authorization from you for each specific transaction or trades in your accounts, as specified under agreement. We provide non-discretionary investment management services with regards to all client retirement accounts governed under ERISA, including Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs). While we may have trading authority on your accounts, non-discretionary investment management services require our client(s)' prior verbal (or written) consent to execute each individual trade.

While this firm may provide both discretionary and non-discretionary investment account management, a signed client-advisory agreement, power of attorney, and/or trading authorization form must be in place and on-file before we invoke any discretionary authority over your investment account(s). Discretionary authority is exercised in a manner consistent with your investment objectives. Our discretionary authority follows the investment policy, risk tolerance limitations, and restrictions that have been mutually agreed upon in your client-adviser agreement. Without your consent or prior approval to each transaction, discretionary authority will allow us to select, determine the amount of a security, and place trade orders (i.e. buy, sell, exchange) in your account(s). You may amend, restrict, or place limitations to our discretionary authority by providing the firm with your updated written instructions.

Please refer to the Advisory Business - Investment Management section (Item 4, Part B.3) of this brochure for more information on our non-discretionary (and discretionary) management services.

ITEM 17: VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES
